RISK CONSIDERATIONS

Counterparty risk: The fund may have contractual agreements with counterparties. If a counterparty is unable to fulfil their obligations, the sum that they owe to the fund may be lost in part or in whole.

Credit risk: A decline in the financial health of an issuer could cause the value of its bonds, loans or other debt instruments to fall or become worthless.

Currency risk: The fund may lose value as a result of movements in foreign exchange rates, otherwise known as currency rates.

Emerging markets & frontier risk: Emerging markets, and especially frontier markets, generally carry greater political, legal, counterparty, operational and liquidity risk than developed markets. Interest rate risk: The fund may lose value as a direct result of interest rate changes.

Liquidity risk: The fund invests in illiquid instruments, which are harder to sell. Illiquidity increases the risks that the fund will be unable to sell its holdings in a timely manner in order to meet its financial obligations at a given point in time. It may also mean that there could be delays in investing committed capital into the asset class.

Market risk: The value of investments can go up and down and an investor may not get back the amount initially invested.

Economic risk: The value of Investments held by the Company may decline in value due to factors affecting individual Investments and financial markets generally, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook for revenues or corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates, or adverse investor sentiment generally. The value of Investments may also decline due to factors affecting a particular, industry, area or sector, such as changes in production costs and competitive conditions. During a general downturn in the economy, multiple asset classes may decline in value simultaneously. Economic downturn can be difficult to predict. When the economy performs well, there can be no assurance that Investments held by the Company will benefit from the advance.

Operational risk: Operational processes, including those related to the safekeeping of assets, may fail. This may result in losses to the fund. Performance risk: Investment objectives express an intended result but there is no guarantee that such a result will be achieved. Depending on market conditions and the macro-economic environment, investment objectives may become more difficult to achieve.

Sustainability risk: The fund has the objective of sustainable investment. This means it may have limited exposure to some companies, industries or sectors and may forego certain investment opportunities, or dispose of certain holdings, that do not align with its sustainability criteria chosen by the investment manager. The fund may invest in companies that do not reflect the beliefs and values of any particular investor.

Tax risk: The Fund and its returns may rely on certain available tax efficiencies at the inception of the Fund which may be subject to changes in tax treatment or interpretations. Any change in the actual or perceived tax status or exposure of the Fund or its investments as well as in tax legislation, practice or in accounting standards could adversely affect the anticipated level of taxation.

Valuation risk: The valuation of private asset investments is performed on a less frequent basis than listed securities. In addition, it may be difficult to find appropriate pricing references for private asset investments. This difficulty may have an impact on the valuation of the portfolio of investments. Certain investments are valued on the basis of estimated prices and therefore subject to potentially greater pricing uncertainties than listed securities.

IMPACT OBJECTIVE AND SUSTAINABILITY AND ESG INTEGRATION IN THE INVESTMENT PROCESS

Moreover, it aims to contribute to environmental protection and climate action through climate change adaptation, climate change mitigation, and sustainable consumption and production. The Fund extends debt financing either to financial institutions that increase access to responsible financial services (financial inclusion) or operating companies in emerging markets providing solutions in the beforementioned impact themes.
